SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Now that the last year of school life has drawn to a close for the Seniors let us review the four years of fun, laughter, friendship, work, and play that these 18 people have participated in beneath the protection and guidance of teachers and friends.

In Sept. of 1935 twenty-one Freshmen entered their first lap on a Journey toward "home-plate. The first difficulty on their road to first base was encountered in October when the Sophomores "gave them the works". On this journey they also ran into difficulties when Miss Danford, the class advisor, decided they should write & produce a Christmas Play. Finally the first round was completed when in May of 1936 the school bell stopped pealing forth daily summons.

At the beginning of the second year a few found the running too hard and only 19 of the original class entered school, with the addition of 6 new members. More pleasure was had this year at initiation time than the year before, and the play "My Mother-in-Law", produced under the direction of Mr. Smith, the new class advisor who aided their progress in their second lap.

The next fall, still under Mr. Smith's sheltering wing, the 16 Juniors fairly flew to 3rd base. In the distance between 2nd and 3rd "Bashful Bobby" and "And Mary Did" were given by the Jolly Juniors. Near the end of the run, the Junior-Senior Banquet took the place of dramatics and gave them more knowledge of things yet to come.

From third base to home more joys and trials lay in the path of the dignified Seniors. The presentation of "Aunt Jerushy On The Warpath", the Senior Educational trip, the Junior-Senior Banquet, and all other Senior activities, coupled with the thought that never would our group be all together again, and that next year we would not have "school as our life , but life as our school" hastened the journey to "home-plate" and a score of 18 home runs for 18 ambitious and undaunted Seniors.

SENIOR WILL

I, John Sexton, will my bachelors club to whoever will pay the dues.
I, Bob Hargitt, leave my way with women to Elvin Hawkins.
I, Dean Clark, leave my sense of humor to Lawrence Wills.
I, Harold Martin, leave my editorship to Vernon Holm.
I, Gordon Burns, leave my place in the window to some other couple.
I, Prescott Johnson, leave my public speaking to Ernie Strahan.
I, Harold Van Hoy, leave my fishing ability to anyone who has the nerve to "skip" school.
I, Myrtle McLaren, will my strings on Clinton H. to the Sophomore girls.
I, Catherine Miller, bequeath my slender figure to Florence Neathamer.
I, Esther Beck, leave my boy friends to Marie Jones.
I, Dorothy Dresbach, leave my love affairs to the student body.
I, Edna Breeding, will my artistic ability to Wilma Shepherd.
I, Avis Osborne, leave my bookkeeping set to whoever can balance it.
I, Maxine Tyrrell, leave the office work to Wilda Mayfield.
I, Owen Bradford, leave my sisters to the care of the Bachelors Club.
I, Ruth Ella Austin, leave my school work to become an "old school mom".
I, Dina Hathaway, will my speed in typing to my successor.
I, Harry Nourse, will my sex appeal to Tommy Burdett.
We, the Senior class, hereby appoint W. V. Dennis executor of this , our last will and testament.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Lights! Camera! Action! On Sept. 5, 1936, seventeen Freshmen bravely ascended the stairway which was to lead them forever from the ties of grade school. Bound for higher success, they proudly raised the curtains on the first act of their high school career.

The biggest event of the year was initiation, and the worthy "cast" came through with flaming colors. Thus the curtains were drawn and the first act closed after which the group enjoyed three months of vacation.

The coming Fall saw these same students, now a year wiser, enter the same old building, climb the same flight of stairs to resume the same career.

Following a few weeks of strenuous school life, the first class director, Mr. Ramsdell, was transferred to Ashland, and his place was taken by Miss Nell Perrine. Under her very successful management, the show moved on.

Initiation again took the lime-light, but the gay "troup" this time enjoyed the pleasure of administering to a new group of "Freshies" such embarrassment as they had undergone the previous year.

Several of the students took an active part in music and dramatics, and the class raised funds selling gum, candy and pop-corn at the basketball games. Their money was pooled with that of the Freshmen to buy buns, weiners, pop, and ice cream for a Freshmen-Sophomore party. This was the final "big event" of the year and "set" was again abandoned in anticipation of an enjoyable summer vacation.

After two years this plucky group had dwindled to a mere twelve in number, but they staunchly returned to assume the role of dignified upperclassmen.

Eager to prove their acting ability, they discovered that they really possessed hidden talent for the stage. "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick", a rural comedy, was hailed by all as a hilarious success.

They "capped the climax" by sponsoring a festive Junior-Senior banquet.

At last the curtain descends for the third time upon a united class which has proven itself a worthy and useful group bound for great achievements in this drama of life.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

September 6, 1937 saw 28 "green" students start their secondary education by walking through the stately portals of Rogue River high school.

Their first taste of high school activity came when the annual initiation took place. The Freshmen went through the ordeal of becoming student body members with all the courage they could muster for the ceremony.

During the course of the year the class took part in all school activities, making a promising showing in dramatics by taking a part in the student body productions, "The Shadow of Terror" and also "Listen to Leon". In football and basketball the class was well represented, and music was also on the activity list.

With the aid of their class advisor, Mrs. McGregory, they sold refreshments in such forms as pop-corn, gum, and candy at the plays and numerous basketball games.

At the end of the school year, they pooled their money with the Sophomores for a big out-of-doors picnic, thus ended the first step of their High School career.

On September 6, 1938 fourteen of the old members and several new students started on the second journey for advanced learning. As a Sophomre class they found the grade of "Education" a little easier, but realized they still had lots to learn. With Mr. Lewis as their class advisor they had much success. Again they took a lead in the many extra-curicula activities by helping the dramatics department in the student body productions; taking their share of positions on the sport teams, and also entering the Glee club.

We may rightly say "Hats off to the Sophomore class of 38-39."

FRESHMEN CLASS HISTORY

There were 29 worried but relentless faces when Tuesday September the 6th rolled around last Fall. They were to be the Freshmen class of 38-39. The quotation "Birds of a feather flock together", just about describes the action of the class during the first few weeks. When life eased up a little the class received a bigger jolt in the annual initiation which took place in October. The Sophomores, remembering the ordeal they had to go through last year, made the Freshies repeat nursery rhymes, sit on the hot box and do many more rather unpleasant antics.

After the initiation the class settled down to earth and entered into the routine of high school activities by taking part in the student body plays, showing athletic ability in placing three members on the basketball team as well as being well represented in the other sports, football and baseball. Those who were "sport" minded included Elvin Hawkins, Ike Orr, Bob Dixon, Grant Cummings and Ralph Cummings. The Freshmen girls participated in the selling of candy, pop-corn and gum at the basketball games.

Before the year was half over the class saw 7 of its members drop out of school; some moved out of town while others went to work.

Towards the close of their first year of high school work the Freshmen pooled their money with the Sophomore class and enjoyed a joint picnic.

FOOTBALL

Under the able leadership of Mr. Lewis, the Rogue River Rogues, displaying a dazzling air and running attack throughout the year, captured the "B" league football championship for the 1938 season. In four conference games, the Rogues rolled up 198 points to their opponents 38; an average of nearly 50 points per game.

A highlight of the season was the Football Carnival sponsored by the 20-30 club of Grants Pass. The Rogues entered the carnival, but the results were quite disastrous. They not only lost their game to Glendale by a 20-19 score, but also lost two weeks of time that was sorely needed for practice by the basketball squad.

This year will see the last varsity play of four of the team's stellar players, Gordon Burns, the star running halfback; Dean Clark, pass snagging end; Bob Hargitt, first string center; and John Sexton, the bulls-eye passer.

The outlook for next season remains bright despite the loss of so many regulars. The return of Ira Orr, Ted Jones, Clinton Hartwell, Grant Cummings, Lawrence Wills, Eugene Lehrman, and many others will bolster the Rogue cause.

BASKETBALL

The Rogue River Rogues with Walter Dennis as coach for the second year, finished a highly successful basketball season by capturing the consolation championship at the Annual S.O.N.S. Invitational Tournament in Ashland. In their victory march, the Rogues met and defeated two of their most deadly athletic enemies----Glendale, who handed the Rogues their only football defeat and Central Point, who beat them in the playoff game for the division championship after both teams had finished the regular season with nine wins and a single loss.

Out of 23 starts the Rogues dropped 7 decisions, five of which were practice games.

Several of the first ten men will graduate, but many aspiring replacements will be on hand. Those who will graduate are: Bob Hargitt, guard; Dean Clark, guard; Gordon Burns, guard; Harold Martin, guard and John Sexton, forward. Team members who will return are: Ira Orr, Ted Jones, Ed Martin, Lawrence Wills, Bob Dixon, Clinton Hartwell, Grant Cummings, Elvin Hawkins, and Tommy Burdett, Manager.

SPRING SPORTS

Spring of 1939 saw students participating in all kinds of sports from marbles to touch-tackle football.

Aspirants for next years football team took to the field under the tutelage of Coach Lewis, while softball enthusiasts devoted their time to that sport.

A few of the boys went in for track and later participated in the annual track meet at Medford. Due to so few schools playing hard baseball, a league was not formed, therefore leaving only interclass sports for the students.

It is expected that next year there will be first class playing field for the football and basketball teams, one of the main things that was lacking in the past year of sports.

GIRL'S SPORTS

In spite of the fact that competitive sports for the girls were ruled out, they were determined to have some part in athletics this year. With Miss Perrine as their coach, they embarked on a new, original plan for promoting sportsmanship and good-will between the various competing schools.

This plan was initiated previous to a basketball game in the form of a dinner given in honor of the Gold Hill Girls. Gold Hill returned the invitation and the Rogue River Girls spent an evening of entertainment with them.

The first party proved so successful that the girls invited Kerby to a similar dinner and climaxed the evening with a volleyball game.

A great deal of interest was taken in volleyball, as it constituted the main sport during the winter months. The girls played inter-class games, and games were exchanged with Sams Valley respectively.

Baseball and track were the main features of the s pring season, and play days were enjoyed at Gold Hill and Sams Valley respectively.

Although they took a great deal of interest in sports this year, the girls seemed to be most proud of showing their initiative to develop friendly competition between the rival schools.

The girls are hoping that next year they will have some competive sports, such as volleyball and softball, in which schools of the district will participate.

Next year a complete gym schedule will be carried-out as the facilities of the new high school will be available at that time.

GLEE CLUB

Representing the Rogue River School in many song festivities was the well organized glee club supervised by the very able director Mrs. Guy. The glee club's first activity was the trip to the Ashland Teachers Conference where they participated with schools of four other counties in a gigantic group song fest. The combined glee clubs of the seventh and eighth and high school produced the pageant "A Christmas Mystery." During the spring term the glee clubs prepared for the annual Music Festival held in Ashland. For many in the glee club who were to graduate this Festival was a very fitting climax.

Throughout the year the glee club sang in the assemblies, plays and the meetings of various community organizations and were loudly applauded for their singing. Those in the glee club and the arrangement according to their group are as follows: Soprano: Esther Beck, Edna Butterfield, Carol Johnson, Wilda Mayfield, Loretta Miller, Catherine Miller, Florence Neathamer, Wilma Shepherd, Mabel Tyrell, Arlene West Leila Holm, Elaine Totten, Elizabeth Burdett, Edna Hathaway, Harriet Christensen, Betty Burkhart; Alto: Peggy Baker, Orva Blackburn, Edna Breeding, Eileen Dick, Eva Freel, Margaret Hall, Marie Jones, Elva Kunke, Maxine Magerle, Myrtle McLaren. Waunetta Moore, Marian Barber, Elsie Bradford; Tenors: Richard Burns, Dean Clark, Clinton Hartwell, Ted Jones, Harold Martin, Kenneth Williams, and Harold Van Hoy; Bases: Grant Cummings, Bob Dresbach, Bob Hargitt, Vernon Holm, Ike Orr, John Sexton, Weldon Sloan, Ernie Strahan, Prescott Johnson and Gordon Burns; Tenor

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra made up of members of all four classes has closed its books on the initial year of its appearance in the Rogue River High School extra-curricula activities. The director, Mr. Root, is to be highly complimented on his exceptional work in getting the orchestra to function properly. Individual members of the orchestra and their instruments are as follows:
